Anderson Packaging Names Misher to Lead Clinical Services Division

Robert Misher joins Anderson Clinical Services as Senior Vice President and General Manager

ROCKFORD, IL (March 29, 2010) - Anderson Packaging, a business unit of AmerisourceBergen Packaging Group, has named Robert Misher as Senior Vice President and General Manager of Anderson Clinical Services. Misher brings extensive experience in the area of Clinical Trials, including founding and operating Misher Pharmaceutical Consulting Services for the past 8 years. Prior to Misher Consulting Services, Misher held leadership positions at pharmaceutical organizations including Aptuit, Almedica International, BlisTech, Boehringer Ingelheim, and Wyeth. Misher holds an undergraduate degree from Widener University with a Masters of Business Administration from Drexel University.

“We are extremely excited to have Bob lead our Clinical services division,” states Shawn Reilley, President of Anderson Packaging. “We feel he brings real insight to our efforts in providing best-in-class clinical supply services. Bob has been on the leading edge of the industry for a number of years and brings a wealth of practical experience leading clinical services organizations. His presence provides real value to our customers as they look for ways to reduce development time and execute trials more efficiently and effectively.”

Anderson Clinical Services is based in Rockford, Illinois, offering clinical packaging, storage, and distribution services. Anderson serves the North American and global markets, featuring cross-continental services with Brecon Pharmaceuticals in the United Kingdom, with a customer focused approach lead by attentive and experienced project management. To support packaging and distribution, Anderson features clinical study development services including comparator drug sourcing, utilizing the extensive supply network of parent company AmerisourceBergen. Laboratory services are offered both in the United States and European locations, including Analytical testing and development, Microbiological testing, and Stability studies. Packaging services include full primary and secondary support for traditional pharmaceuticals and parenterals packaging, with in-house label development including Multilanguage support, randomization, and blinding. Anderson offers global storage and distribution, and returns management, including Cold Chain support.
